IT Fundamentals
Computer Ethics Questionnaire

_____
Name

Check the box to indicate whether you think the situations described is ethical (E) or unethical (U).

Number of correct answers = [   ] %
Number of situations

Situation	E	U
1. A company requires employees to wear badges that track their whereabouts while at work.
2. A supervisor reads an employee's email.
3. An employee uses his computer at work to send e-mail messages to a friend.
4. An employee send an e-mail message to several co-workers and blind copies his supervisor.
5. An employee forwards an e-mail message to a third party without permission from the sender.
6. An employee uses her computer at work to complete a homework assignment for school.
7. The vice president of your Student Government Association (SGA) downloads a photograph from the Web and uses it in a flier recruiting SGA members.
8. A student copies text from the Web and uses it in a research paper for his English Composition class.
9. An employee sends political campaign material to individuals on her employer's mailing list.
10. As an employee in the registration office, you have access to student grades. You look up grades for your friends, so they do not have to wait for delivery of grade reports from the postal service.
11. An employee makes a copy of software and installs it on her home computer. No one users her home computer while she is at work, and she uses her home computer only to finish projects from work.
12. An employee who has been laid off installs a computer virus on his employer's computer.
13. A person designing a Web page finds one on the Web similar to his requirements, copies it, modifies it, and publishes it as his own Web page.
14. A student researches using only the Web to write a report.
15. In a society in which all transactions occur online (a cashless society), the government tracks every transaction you make and automatically deducts taxes from your bank account.
16. Someone copies a well-known novel to the Web and encourages others to read it.		